Senate.

The following House bills were passed:

The one establishing a life saving station at Louisville, Ky.

Another to dispose of Osage Indian lands in Kansas.

The Japanese indemnity fund, a Senate bill, came up as unfinished business. The bill directs the payment to Japan of $4,163,264.

Beck reported from the Committee on Appropriations with the amendments of the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

The evening session was ordered to be devoted to House bills which had been favorably reported.

At the evening session a bare quorum was present. After considering the Fortification Appropriation Bill, which was concurred in a number of House Bills unobjectioned to were passed.

House.

Washington, March 1.—Several small matters being disposed of the Funding Bill was reached. The bill having been read as passed by the Senate amendments.

Conger raised the point that the bill and Senate amendments must first be considered in Committee of the whole which was overruled.

De LaMater immediately renewed the amendment but Tucker now refused to yield, and demanded the previous question on the Senate amendment.

The main question was ordered; yeas, 121; nays, 91.

De LaMater then moved to commit the bill to the Committee on Ways and Means, with instruction to that committee to report it back with the amendment which he had submitted incorporated therein.

Carlisle raised a point against the motion and was sustained.

The Senate amendment No. 21 was then concurred in.

Tucker moved to concur in the Senate amendment No. 16.

Several motions to concur without the amendment were made.

The Republicans voted solidly in the affirmative but the motion was lost.

A motion to reconsider was made and carried by a vote of 110 to 95.

Conger then moved to adjourn and this being rejected he moved to take a recess until to-morrow.

The majority of the Republicans refused to vote in order to leave the House without a quorum. No quorum voted and then on motion of Tucker the House took a recess until 10 to-morrow.

The Boer War.

London, March 1.—General Colley was shot just before the close of the engagement while giving an order to cease firing. The official list shows that two high officers have been killed one being General Colley.

General Roberts will have by the time he arrives a reinforcement of 5,000 men. Accounts received to-day render it uncertain how the battle stood. The British were driven from Spitzkopf because they were fairly beaten. The fight ended in a route. The loss was moderate, the estimate being placed at 300 killed and wounded. The latter lay exposed to a heavy rain from Sunday afternoon until Monday morning.

A correspondent with Colley's force at Spitzkopf gives the following account of the engagement: Spitzkopf is about 3,000 yards from the Boers' position. Two companies were left at the base of the hill and the remainder of the troops toiled up the hill which was very steep and difficult. The ascent was made on the hands and knees. It would have been impossible to have carried up the mountain heavy guns. Had we had those the result might have been different. The whole force reached the summit before daylight and at five o'clock firing began. The Boers had no redoubts posted and were completely surprised, but promptly returned the fire. Our men had but little cover and the number of Boers at the base was about 2,000. Up to midday their loss was certainly heavier than ours. Gen. Colley was conspicuous for his courage and courage. Shortly after noon the Boers fire, which had heretofore averaged about fifty shots per minute, increased to a terrific volley, our men were unable to withstand it and were killed again and ran. The Boers climbed to the summit of the hill and followed them with a terrible fire as they went down the other side.

This correspondent was captured by the Boers who treated him well and gave him a pass to return to camp. He identified the body of Gen. Colley on the field.

Kallach's Trial.

San Francisco, March 1.—In the trial of young Kallach for the murder of Charles DeYoung, the defense opened to-day. Great interest is manifested, for while the prosecution followed in a course of all the previous knowledge of the tragedy, the points of the defense have been fruitful of speculation. Highton, counsel for the defense, in his opening speech, announced his defense to be, first, on the technical grounds that the prisoner had been once before placed in jeopardy and was discharged according to the court records. Second, self defense. Third, transitory malice. The counsel expects to prove that from what had before happened, and the known character of DeYoung, the prisoner was in reasonable danger of his life; that on the day of the tragedy the prisoner had had an interview with a friend of DeYoung and had an appointment to meet the deceased with a view of making arrangements to stop the publication of the pamphlet reflecting upon his father, the condition being that in event of his suppression the older Kallach would not prosecute DeYoung's attempt on his life. That soon after the prisoner became aware that the pamphlets were being issued he went to the Chronicle office in an agitated state of mind, observed a threatening look on DeYoung's face and a motion to draw a pistol as he entered, and drawing his that both fired simultaneously. He proposed to vindicate the testimony of Clement Shaw who was sent to penitentiary for perjury, for swearing at the preliminary examination that DeYoung fired first. A number of witnesses were examined as to the good character of the prisoner previous to the tragedy. The court room was crowded and great interest was manifested.

The Arrival at Washington.

Washington, March 1.—The special train carrying the President-elect and family arrived at 9 o'clock to-day. The General was informally received in a few pleasant remarks by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll of the committee of inauguration ceremonies. Carriages were waiting and the President-elect and family, except his aged mother who was driven direct to the executive mansion, were escorted to a hotel. On reaching the hotel W. D. Fardig a member of the committee appointed to receive the President-elect delivered a short address of welcome. The General responded briefly, thanking the committee for the complete arrangements made for the comfort of himself and family and expressing himself as being fatigued from the journey he hoped they would excuse further remarks.

President Hayes will call on the President-elect to-day.

To-morrow evening General Garfield will dine with Representative Chittenden and after dinner hold a reception for which cards have been issued.

On Friday morning the President and Mrs. Hayes will turn over the executive mansion to the President-elect and Mrs. Garfield and on Saturday the retiring President and family will leave by special car for Cleveland.

Washington Items.

Washington, March 1.—It is reported that Senator Kirkwood is to be Secretary of the Interior in Garfield's cabinet. This rumor has suddenly obtained considerable credit. A Republican Senator this morning had his name put down for Kirkwood's seat which is one of the best of the chamber. Many of the Republican Senators believe that Kirkwood is to be appointed and general satisfaction is expressed at his promotion.

The friends of Stanley Matthews say that he will be re-nominated for U. S. Supreme Judge at the request of President Hayes.

The conference report on the River and Harbor Bill was adopted in the House and the Senate will adopt it this afternoon.

It is generally understood now that the Republicans will permit the Funding Bill to pass and Secretary Sherman's position in favor of the bill has exercised a strong influence in withdrawing the Republican opposition.

The Walking Match.

New York, March 1.—The walking match score at 6 a. m. stood as follows: Sullivan, 153; Pauchet, 164; Kishue, 147; Howard, 150; Allen, 145; Campna, 125; Curran, 163; Lacause, 117; all others have retired.

At 11 o'clock Pauchet was exactly one mile ahead of the best American.

At twelve o'clock the score stood: Sullivan, 168; Pauchet, 179; Kishue, 161; Howard, 154; Allen, 156; Campna, 136; Curran, 149; Lacause, 131.

Allen retired from the race after eleven to-night with a score of 179 miles.

Midnight, the score stood: Sullivan, 217; Pauchet, 235; Kishue, 204; Howard, 213; Campna, 185; Curran, 200; Lacause, 174.

Politicians.

New York, March 1.—The Herald says: Platt and Lamar are the only ones among the Senators-elect who are friends of Grant, who has no more sincere and devoted friends in public life than Miller. The Herald continues: As a leader of Republican principles Blaine stands in the first place but there are times when it is decorous for the party to consult the people. There may be occasions when Garfield will feel as he has felt before that with the American people the influence of Grant and Conkling is greater than that of a regiment of Blaine with all the anti-third term Senators-elect thrown in.

Mardi Gras.

Memphis, March 1.—The weather this morning was delightful. The streets were crowded with people, the gathering being the largest at any Mardi Gras celebration held here in years. At noon the industrial procession representing the manufacturing and business interests of the city moved through the streets. The procession was varied and made a fine display.

Wool Market.

Boston, March 1.—Wool is in fair demand but prices are without improvement. There is no prospect of any immediate change. Manufacturers are purchasers at low prices and bidders are disposed to work off stock to some extent. California wool has been in fair demand with sales mostly at 17 to 26 for fall.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Wool is slightly easier.

Beecher's Congregation.

New York, March 1.—Considerable feeling has arisen among Beecher's congregation over the ship disagreement between Beecher and his music committee caused by the arbitrary action of Beecher in summarily removing his organist to make room for another of his choice. Protests have been made by prominent members of the church.

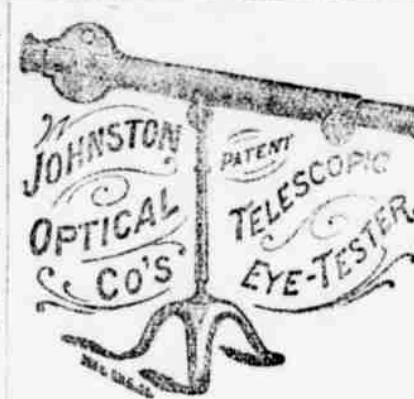

Meeting Abandoned.

London, March 1.—A large meeting which it was proposed to hold at Dublin under the auspices of the home rulers has been abandoned owing to Hartington's statement in the Commons last night relative to public meetings.

Appropriation Bills Passed.

Washington, March 1.—The appropriation bills passed are awaiting final action including deficiency and river and harbor bills. These appropriations amount to $191,280,168.

It is said that the new version of the New Testament which has long been in course of translation is now published. The first copies can only be had at the extravagant price of $10 per copy.
